The Great Strike on the New York Central.

TRAINS RUNNING AS USUAL.

The Strikers Still Firm in Their Demands, While the Company Officials Will Not Recognize the Knights of Labor in Any Form.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The situation has not changed at this point of the New York Central railroad strike. At the Grand Central depot trains are arriving and departing nearly on time. Neither Holland, Hayes nor Lee were to be found last night. Vice President Webb was seen at 10 p. m. He said the latest advices from Syracuse were that the yards there and at Dewitt were in the hands of the military and the Pinkertons and that trains were moving all right

During the day many men applied for reinstatement. Mr. Webb said that the Croton locals, comprising ninety trains, would soon start again. The Spuyten Duyvel's locals, eight trains, will also start again. Yesterday 150 cars of freight were handled by the company in this city. No word had come from Mr. Depew, but Cyrus Field called and approved of Mr. Webb's actions. Several other directors expressed satisfaction.

The conductor of New York Central train No. 22, which arrived here from Buffalo at 10:30 o clock reports that four switches were left open in the East Albany yards and had it not been for the presence of mind of the engineer would have been wrecked.

When Vice President Webb received Col. Judson's reply to his request for protection of the men and property at the Syracuse and DeWitt yards, he called a conference of the Central officials. They decided to instruct Pinkerton detectives employed there to charge the strikers upon any show of violence, and, if necessary, to give the governor a casus belli for the ordering out of the troops. Shortly after 1 p. m. a train of five freight cars heavily loaded moved from the St. John's Park freight depot to the yards at West Thirty-third street. A return trip was made with a number of Michigan Central cars from Detroit. All is quiet around the freight depot.

Florence Donovan, of the state board of arbitration, called upon Mr. Webb yesterday and said that a request had been made by the strikers that he meet Mr. Webb and try to arrange the difficulty by arbitration. Mr. Webb received him very courteously, but told him distinctly that there was nothing to arbitrate. Mr. Donovan did not argue the question, but withdrew after a short chat.

District Master Workman E. J. Lee said that between here and Buffalo there were about 8,000 men out. Reports received by him from all along the line show everything to be in good condition. In his opinion these men who have not gone out lean very strongly towards the strikers.

Mr. Holland, of the executive board of the knights, slipped away from the Grand Union hotel about 9 o'clock, saying he was going to breakfast. At 12 o'clock a dispatch from Paterson, N. J., was received, saying that Mr. Holland was there. As Paterson is the headquarters of the Erie, it is supposed Mr. Holland is contemplating a strike on that road.

The Sun this morning says: The strike upon the New York Central railroad is practically at an end, and the Knights of Labor suffered the most crushing defeat in their history. The knights made appeals to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to the Fireman's Brotherhood, to the switchmen's unions on other roads in the Vanderbilt system and to kindred organizations, begging them to come to their support in their fight against the Central. These appeals have met with a decided refusal and that settled it so far as the New York Central was concerned. The developments of yesterday had a much greater significance than the success of the New York Central in the present struggle. It became apparent that the occasion had been seized by other laboring organizations to settle some old scores with the autocratic knights The revenge is so complete that it promises to amount to a death blow. The squaring of accounts by the Brotherhood of Engineers is most interesting of all. They have taken ample revenge for the "Q" strike.

At Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—At 7:30 o'clock the New York Central local to Troy ran off an open switch and the engine was derailed. It was found that the green switchman had turned his key the wrong way. The track was blocked for over an hour. The freight train which left New York yesterday morning arrived at East Albany about 5 o'clock. No attempt was made to bring it across the bridge. It lies stalled on the freight track. It is believed that it will be moved to-day, and there is a suspicion that a bold attempt will be made to break the blockade at West Albany.

At Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Aug. 12.—The New York Central yards and depot yesterday showed little evidence of the strike except in the handling of trains, where unexperienced swithmen and switchtend- was apparent. Trains were somewhat delayed, but as the day wore on they came in closer to the time The Chicago and St. Louis flyers, which had been held at Syracuse on Sunday and was due at 8.35 and 9 o'clock on Sunday evening respectively, were consolidated at Syracuse and did not reach here until 5.15 Monday morning. The New York newspaper train, due here at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, did not reach here until 7:20 Monday morning, and all the other [illegible] were [illegible].

Chicago Not Affected.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—So far as present indications go there is no possible chance of the strike on the New York Central road affecting the Chicago roads belonging to the system, where at present the trouble is raging. The situation is this: The fight now going on is one backed by the Knights of Labor. West of Buffalo, there are no railroad men members of that organization, or more properly speaking, no assembly of railroaders belonging to that body.

The jurisdiction of the Knights of Labor does, therefore, not extend to Chicago. Railroad men here belong to what is known as the Federated Railway organization, and if anything, are not very friendly to the knights, on account of previous stands taken by them during railroad troubles in this city. Grand Master Sweeney, of the Switchmens' Mutual Aid association, positively asserted to-day that "there will be no strike in Chicago. The Knights of Labor will have to fight it out alone, and they have no jurisdiction whatever on any lines centering here. The council of the Federated Railway organization alone can order a strike, and that at present is not even remotely probable, or even possible."

Struck for Nine Hours.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 12.—Two thousand five hundred machinists and mechanics struck yesterday for nine hour a day with ten hours pay rule. About 1,800 of the strikers are employed by the Westinghouse Electric company, and the Westinghouse Machine company. The remainder are employed in various shops in Allegheny City and Pittsburg. Several firms in both cities have acceded the demands and the strike will probably be of short duration. The strikers held an enthusiastic meeting yesterday. Speeches were made and committees were appointed to attend to details of the strikes. It is very likely that the employes of the Westinghouse Air Brake company in Allegheny and Wilmerding shops will strike to-morrow.

RAILROAD SMASHUP.

Two Engines Demolished by a Collision on the New York Central.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 12.—A bad freight smashup occurred yesterday on the Auburn division of the New York Central at Railroad Mills, about twenty-five miles east of this city. At 12:40 p. m. the regular freight, No. 42, collided with an extra freight train at that point. Both engines were completly demolished. About twenty cars were wrecked. The cars actually leaped over the telegraph wires along the track and tore them down. The regular train was in charge of Conductor Addison, and the extra was in charge of Conductor Bath. The accident was the result of a blunder in the orders given to the two trains.

A list of the killed and injured follows: Fireman George Lightheart, pinned under the tender, both legs broken. He died in a few minutes from internal hemorrhage; Brakeman Fred. Harris, head injured, doubtful; George Horstler, hurled over both engines, back hurt, hopeful; Engineer Louis Palmer, jumped, badly hurt; Engineer Jesse Danzy, still beneath the wreck, probably dead. The road was blocked for several hours.

FROM GUATEMALA.

All Sorts of Rumors About Battles Having Taken place.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12.—The Picayune special from the City of Mexico says: All sorts of rumors are afloat here regarding the situation in Guatemala. It is reported that President Barrilas has been deposed and has fled to his old home, Quesaltanango, to raise fresh troops against his foes. Another rumor which cannot be confirmed at present, is to the effect that the Mexican government has detained the revolutionists Gen. Barrundia Col. Garfias and their followers on the Mexican frontier.

These parties left Tapichula some days ago to enter Guatemala. It has leaked out that President Diaz has telegraphed to the frontier officials to arrest these malcontents if they attempt to cross into Guatemala. There is no news here to-day from Salvador.

He Was Never Arrested.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A special from Guthrie, O. T., to The World says a lawyer from Stillwater, named Than Block disappeared a week ago, after committing several forgeries on farms in this city, and detectives have since been looking for him. On Saturday night he was recognized by an officer at Edmunds. He was dressed as a tramp. The officer called upon him to surrender, but Block ran away. The officer pursued him, and fired several shots, one of them taking effect in Block's foot. Block, in getting out his pistol, shot himself and fell dead in the street. It is not known whether he shot himself purposely or accidentally. He was from Buffalo, and belonged to a prominent family there.

Big Money Found.

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 12.—While passing through the observation car attached to his train yesterday, W. H. McCartney, a passenger conductor on the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad, noticed an old pocket-book lying on the floor. He picked it up and on opening it found bills and checks aggregating $158,000. He made inquiry and soon found the owner who proved to be a Kansas City cattle raiser, returning from a successful trip to the east. He offered to reward Mr. McCartney, quite handsomely, but that gentleman refused to accept anything.

Body Recovered.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 12.—Coroner McGarry had the body of Mrs. Day raised from the bottom of the precipice near the whirlpool yesterday. It was first placed in a coffin and the coffin pulled up by a derrick. The body is much decomposed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—After some filibustering over the approval of the journal, the house ordered a further conference on some disputed amendment to the sundry civil bill. The Atkinson bill, regulating steam railroads in the District of Columbia, was taken up, but final action on it was prevented by dilatory motions, which consumed the time of the house to adjournment.

In the senate, consideration of the tariff bill was continued, the discussion turning to the question of the time wasted on individual items. Several proposed amendments to the metal schedule were voted down. Just before adjournment Mr. Edmunds offered a resolution, which went over, to put the five-minute rule into effect on the discussion of individual items in the bill.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Particulars have been received from Glasgo, of a bloody affray which took place last night at a dance attended by a party of Italian brick yard laborers. After freely indulging in intoxicants a quarrel ensued in which nearly all present took part. Knives, revolvers, axes and clubs were freely used.

Patani Calpino was hacked with an ax until life was extinct. Two other men were shot and another was felled with a blow from a club, receiving probably fatal injuries. The women in the place also took part in the fight and were covered with blood. One received three severe cuts. Calpino was about 50 years of age and leaves a family. Two men have been arrested, charged with his murder, and the police are on the track of two others who were implicated.

LAPORTE, Ind, Aug. 12.—Five years ago little Johnny Hale, then a lad only 8 years old, was stolen from his home, near Marion, Ind., by a band of gypsies.

The distracted parents spent several years trying to find trace of their missing boy, but gave up the search, mourning him as dead. The lad became attached to his gypsy friends, and followed them on their pilgrimage through the western states.

Yesterday a boy—none other than Johnny Hale—stopped at the residence of a farmer named Joseph Weikel, living near Elkhart. His clothes were ragged and he had the appearance of a boy tramp.

He told Mr. Weikels that the gypsies with whom he had been making his home had maltreated him, and that he had run away, hoping to find his way home to his father and mother. The parents at Marion were telegraphed, and the boy mourned for dead for five long years is to be restored to them.

TEN ACRES OF LAND BLOWN UP.

Mysterious Natural Gas Explosion in Shelby County, Ind.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Aug. 12.—Monday morning at 9 o'clock a terrific explosion occurred near Ogden's graveyard, two and one-half miles south of Waldron, causing great excitement throughout the county.

Ten acres of land were torn to pieces. One acre was demolished to the depth of ten feet. The river flat rock was blown up, and large stone were thrown fully a mile from the the scene.

The gas is burning fifteen high from the center of the river, and from fifty or more points of the land torn up.

The explosion was spontaneous. It is two and one-half miles from any well and is as far from any line.

The whole country is in excitement, and no means are known by which the flow and burning of the gas may be stopped.

J. H. Lowe, who lives on the farm where the explosion occurred, says he heard a terrific report and felt the earth quivering beneath his feet. He went toward the graveyard and was soon confronted by a shot of flame 200 feet high. Then fifty or more fountains of fire burst from the earth. These were interspersed with six or eight active geysers.

The river bed was torn to pieces and the huge fissures were receiving the river's water. Sheets of flame swept over the water, and a crater, covering an area of about one acre, was quickly converted into a huge hole, from which a continuous roaring and rumbling noise proceeds. Within the bend of the river and for one-eighth of a mile along the stream great rents are in the earth and the river bed. At the bend of the river, the bank, which is of limestone, is a fracture a quarter of a mile in length. Stones the size of a house have been hurled from their places. The graveyard was shaken up, the skeletons of the dead being distinctly seen in the fractures of the earth. Gas flows freely from the entire surface of the ten acres.

Many theories have been advanced as to the cause of the upheaval, and many people contend that it was spontaneous combustion of natural gas. Others think that the upheaval was volcanic.

Inhabitants in the locality became wild with excitement, and many left their homes. Within the last eighteen months there have been thirteen gas wells sunk in the locality of the graveyard, and while each has had some gas none have been gushers.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 12.—This city is suffering from an ice famine brought on by the Central strike. Not a pound of ice could be bought here to-day. The local dealers have consignments of ice on the way here which have been delayed by the strike. The hotels and restaurants are suffering greatly and some of them may have to close to-morrow. Railroad officials here say to-day that the backbone of the strike has been broken. All trains to-day have passed along nearly on time. Everything is quiet between New York and Albany.

Brothers Kill Each Other.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 12.—News has been received here of a terrible killing that occurred yesterday at Pattison, forty-six miles west, resulting in the death of Charles and Daniel Ellison, brothers, who killed each other. No particulars are learned. They are both known here, where they have relations.

Went Backward to Death.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 12.—Capt. Henry D. Perry, a well known farmer and fisherman, of Agawam, went to the Connecticut river yesterday to get water, backed his team into the stream and was drowned.

Death of an Ex-Mayor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Samuel B. H. Vance, who, for a brief time served as mayor of this city, died yesterday of heart disease at Douglaston, L. I. He was born near Philadelphia seventy-six years ago.

Death of an Old Veteran.

FRANKLIN, Mass., Aug. 12.—William Field, one of the oldest members in the G. A. R., died this morning, aged 90. He served in the rebellion in Company A, Thirty-ninth Massachusetts regiment.

Troops Ready to Move.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Trains are running on the Central here, although late. There is no evidence of a strike here. Brig. Gen. Doyle, of Buffalo, last night requested to have the Eighth separate company in readiness for an emergency in Syracuse or Buffalo. Capt. Henderson has had the Eighth company at the arsenal ready to move at a moment's notice.

Convention of Quarrymen.

QUINCY, Mass., Aug. 11.—A convention of delegates from a large percentage of the quarrymen's unions of the country opened here to organize a Quarrymen's National Union. Between fifty and one hundred delegates representing unions in various states are in attendance.

Why it is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequaled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

TUESDAY, - - - AUGUST 12.

IN today's impression of the STAR is a list of those entitled to unclaimed dues from common pleas court. The list is quite extensive, and in several instances the amounts are quite large.

THE purchase of the C. and A. railway by the Erie is not the most cheerful news that we might have hoped for. With Erie shops at Galion and the old division ending there it is feared and believed by competent judges, that the eastern division of the road will be carried to that point. However much there is in this view of the matter it is quite certain that the vast yards here will continue to employ a good number of men and in the worst possible arrangement of affairs we shall still be the branching point and feel the existence of the old natural terminus. We had hoped for the purchase by some great eastern company, some trunk line wanting an opening into Chicago, for that would have meant a new connecting line east of here and the consequent benefits. To the ordinary observer it would seem that the Erie would find it advantageous to make its division point at the junction proper, and would find matters desirable to have its shops here. If there is such a possibility we have no doubt in Marion's ability and readiness to offer the Erie all needed inducements to make such an arrangement. But this and all other speculations on the outcome can be founded on but little knowledge of the results. A short time will reveal what we shall see.

—J. D. McNamar, of the McNamar Machine works, of Newark, Ohio, was in the city today, in company with John Kelleher, Sup't of the McNamar works, visiting the Huber folks. These gentlemen made a careful survey of the Huber plant and pronounced it one of the finest in the state.

—A little son of Sam Krause, on north Main street, is recovering from an attack of scarlet fever.

—Mrs. J. H. Richards is sick at her home, on north Main street, with malarial fever.

A Sturgeon [illegible] a Chain.

Capt. Dillon, of the steamer Fisher, on June 30 brought up a sturgeon which had been caught in the last trap at the mouth of the Columbia, almost to the ocean. The peculiarity about the fish is that there was attached to him a chain nearly five feet long, about the size of a halter chain. He had been caught before, and on the under side of his mouth a hole had been cut. Through this the chain had been passed, and through a ring on the end of the chain, thus forming a bow knot or loop around his under lip. Then he had evidently been fastened to a pole or stake, with a rope attached to the end of the chain.

After the rope broke the fish was at liberty to leave, and how long he has been swimming with the chain hanging to his mouth is a mystery. If any of our exchanges know where the fish has escaped from, or when, and will state it, it may form an interesting sketch as to how long the fish has carried the chain and where he has been traveling.

The sturgeon was quite poor, and one of his fins was partially worn off by the rubbing of the chain, showing that he had traveled with it a long time.—Astorian.

The Palmetto's Day Is Over.

The palmetto hat is going out of fashion, and you rarely see one on the street now, even on the head of the most old fashioned Southerner. Yet there was a time, and that not ten years ago, when every gentleman thought that to sustain his dignity he had to wear a palmetto hat in the summer. The fact is, that in spite of their light and cool appearance, the palmetto hats were the hottest covering that a perspiring man ever interposed between his head and the burning rays of the sun. White starched shirts on a hot day don't compare to a palmetto hat for discomfort. The straw is so closely woven that not a particle of air gets to the hair, and as soon as people began to get ideas in their heads about common sense clothing for summer they began to look with disfavor upon the palmetto hat. Besides, the hats are exceedingly expensive. The cost of a good one is $25 to begin with, and in order to have it in good condition you must pay several dollars every summer to have it reshaped and the straw whitened.—Interview with St. Louis Hatter.

Washington Roof Lodgers.

A look through a powerful field glass from one of the narrow windows in the top of the Washington monument in hot weather shows a new side of domestic life in the capital—what might be termed the upper side—as a writer has said in a book of which all the rest has been forgotten. Washington is a city of boarding houses. As you look from the top of the monument with your field glass you can see bedrooms on the house tops. That is, light, portable cots have been taken up on the flat roofs of houses, rugs spread over the sheets of tin that have become floors, and sometimes folding screens have been placed between the beds. The houses so topped off are probably the big boarding houses where unmarried department clerks live, and they take to the roofs on hot nights for the sake of the maximum of air and minimum of temperature. And the plan is not a bad one by long odds.—Washington Post.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

In Which Chris Kellar Receives Injuries Quite Severe.

Christopher Kellar, the carpenter, was the victim of a runaway accident Monday evening that terminated in his severe injury. At about half-past 6 o'clock, as he was driving to his home along north West street, his horse, which is a spirited one, became frightened, and by a sudden lunge threw the occupant of the buggy out. Chris held onto the lines and was dragged considerable distance over the rough street. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and carried across to his home, on north Main street.

An examination of his injuries discovered them to be quite serious, consisting of a severe bruise in the left side, where it is thought he struck when thrown out. He also received internal injuries which his physician, Dr. Hamilton, thinks may possibly develop to an extent to occasion alarm. The patient is confined to his bed, suffering considerably from the effects of the accident.

The horse, after getting away from the driver, demolished the buggy before it was stopped.

ROBBED AT TIFFIN.

F. H. Tristram, of this City, Robbed by Burglars at His Hotel.

F. H. Tristram, central passenger agent of the Wabash railroad, was at his home here Monday, and related to his friends the manner in which he was visited by burglars at his hotel at Tiffin Sunday night. The thieves entered Mr. Tristram's room through a window opening onto the balcony, and very quietly relieved Fred of his watch and chain, some money, etc., amounting in all to about $115. His pockets were completely rifled, and everything of value taken except $30 which he kept in his passbook. The passbook, however, was also taken from his pocket, but the money, which was in a $20 and $10 bill, had evidently been overlooked.

A Growing Concern.

With their advertisement, in this issue, is given a cut of the new works of Bryan, Field, Beaver & Co. Though looking modest enough, the works are more than double the original plant that was put up early in the season, and the factory now comes near supplying room adequate to the demands of a growing business.

At this season the company is working only the wood mantel, fine furnishing and building departments, yet forty-eight men are on the pay roll. When the manufacture of rakes is added, beginning in time to supply last season's demands, the list of employes will materially increase.

The existence of this company will soon be notable in the interior of Marion homes. With fine wood mantels and the finest interior furnishings made right here at home, it is possible and probable that greater expenditures will be made in that line, and the interior of many dwellings will thereby be much improved in appearance.

Anyhow, a concern employing forty-eight men in its infancy deserves both our respect and encouragement.

And Satan Came Also.

An old fraud, signing himself as Dr. D. H. Patchen, of Oberlin, made himself busy today circulating a small circular alleged to be, as headed, "Important to Christian People." It seems the public should be warned against Patchen. The old fraud came to this city five years ago and obtained a loan on the pretense of being a physician, which loan he has neglected to return, and at the same time he bored a $2.20 crowd with a fifteen cent lecture. He also attempted to make a victim of another physician to the extent of $25, but the game didn't work. The fact is, Patchen is a crank too lazy to work and is after the sympathy of an orthodox public by openly persecuting the Adventists. Word was received here today that his wife is an invalid and lies at the point of death, largely owing to his inhuman treatment. He is a pretty duck to be assailing the Adventists who are running an orderly camp meeting here, preaching to outsiders who come but not thrusting their views upon people who do not care to listen. ,

At Music Hall Tonight.

At Music Hall tonight will be given a very excellent entertainment, an exemplification of temperance work. With a large cast of characters the play illustrates the trials of the inebriate in his journey to a life of sobriety. The principal characters are Pilgrim the inebriate; Christian, who tells him of the loving King she serves; Templar represents the Good Templar order. Carelessness is a dangerous foe, and Appetite, Pleasure and Discouragement are features in the cast. Then Public Sentiment, Law, Joy and Truth are characterized and these with other personifications from a very realistic representation of life.

The work is represented to be splendid beyond description and has made a most favorable impression on audiences wherever given.

Those who attend at Music Hall tonight are sure not to regret it.

Important Notice.

Companions, you are requested to attend a stated meeting of Marion Council No. 22 R. and S. M., Wednesday evening, August 13th, 1890. Final arrangements will be made for the meeting of the Grand Council in September. By order.

No medicine in the world is in better repute or more widely known than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a safe and certain remedy for all manner of blood disorders, leading physicians and druggists everywhere recommend it in preference to any other.

UNCLAIMED COSTS.

A List of Those Having Money Due Them from the Common Pleas Court with the Amounts.

After considerable effort the STAR is enabled, through the assistance of Clerk Young, to give a list of persons who are entitled to unclaimed costs paid into the county treasury, together with the individual amounts of such claims. The amounts due can be secured by applying to the county clerk, who will give the claimant a certificate to the auditor; he in turn will give an order on the county treasurer, which will be honored on presentation.

The Duke of Fife has just sold his fine estate of Rothiemay, Banffshire, which has belonged to the Fife family since the middle of the last century, when it was purchased by Alexander Duff, of Braco, from the Abernethies, of Saltoun, to whom it belonged when Mary Queen of Scots resided at Rothiemay house, in 1568, during her northern progress. To Supersede Prayer for Rain.

Within a short time the agricultural department hopes to make an interesting experiment, probably on the plains near the state line of Colorado and Kansas. In the agricultural appropriation bill is an item appropriating $2,000 for the purpose of an experiment in producing rainfall by explosion of dynamite. This paragraph was put in the bill by the influence of Senator Farwell, who for many years has believed that rainfall may be induced by the use of explosives. Secretary Rusk thought well of the idea, and the senator induced the committee on agriculture to make provision for the experiment.

Senator Farwell's notion is that about twenty-five pounds of dynamite should be exploded at a time a half mile or so in the air, the material being sent up by means of inexpensive paper balloons and exploded by time fuses. Senator Farwell and Secretary Rusk believe a succession of such explosions will cause rain to fall over a considerable area. At least the experiment in their opinion is worth making, for if it should succeed a cheap and effective solution of the arid land problem would have been discovered. The members of the senate committee on agriculture do not express much faith in the success of the undertaking.—Chicago Herald.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. THE COTTON CITY.

MONDAY'S PROCEEDINGS AT THE ADVENTIST CAMP MEETING.

Conference Matter and Missionary Work Reported—Papers Read by Prominent Sabbath School Workers from Cleveland, Toledo and Mt. Vernon—Good Advice to Teachers—The Evening Sermon.

Monday, Aug. 11, was a pleasant day at the camp. The different state associations held important sessions during the day.

CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS.

At 9 o'clock a conference business meeting was called by the president, G. A. Irwin. Prayer was offered by Elder H. W. Miller. The meeting was opened by the calling of the roll of delegates in which 26 churches responded by 39 delegates. This was followed by the reading of the minutes, of the meeting held Friday, Aug. 8. The following persons were appointed as a committee on aggressive work: G. A. Irwin, J. F. Robbins, J. D. Rice, J. B. Beauman, W. H. Gilmore, L. T. Dysert, M. W. Lewis, A. L. Stevens, E. J. VanHorn. The ministers and leaders of the various districts in the state were then called upon for a report of their labor during the past year. The reports were interesting and showed, on the whole, that advancement was being made in the work throughout the state. The committee on resolutions was next called for and presented the following partial report:

WHEREAS, God has graciously given us another year of peaceful labor, with measureable success, and permitted us to meet again in annual gathering; therefore,

RESOLVED, That we hereby express our gratitude to God for every token of His loving favor, and promise, by His grace, to consecrate ourselves fully to His service from henceforth.

WHEREAS, Within the present conference year, we have lost, in the person of Elder J. E. Swift, a beloved brother, and faithful and efficient laborer in the cause of God; therefore,

RESOLVED, That while we mourn his untimely departure, we bow in humble submission to him who doth all things well. But, while we sense our loss, we also feel admonished to emulate the spirit of devotion and earnestness which characterized his life and labors.

RESOLVED, That we hereby tender our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved companion and relatives of our brother; and while human sympathy is powerless, we commend them to him in whose love there is healing, who doth not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men, but who causeth all things to work together for good to them that love Him.

On motion these resolutions were considered separately and unanimously adopted. The meeting then adjourned till 9 o'clock, Aug. 12.

TRACT AND MISSIONARY WORK.

At 11 o'clock the first meeting of the first meeting of the Ohio State Tract and Missionary Society met, Elder H. W. Miller acting as chairman, having been appointed to the position of president in consequence of the death of the president elected at the last annual session of the Tract Society, Elder J. E. Swift. Elder Miller stated that there were many willing workers engaged in the work of the society. He also stated that the present methods and magnitude of the work had in reality outgrown the provisions of the constitution under which it was running, and suggested a consideration of the question of its revision. He also suggested that such men be appointed over the districts of the state as can and will devote a considerable of their time and attention to the work. The secretary presented a partial report of work done by the society, exclusive of that done by ministers, and Bible workers, (covering but three quarters of a year), as follows:

Members, 720; reports returned, 405; members added, 90; members dismissed, 26; letters written, 640; letters received, 228; missionary visits, 2896; Bible readings held, 348; number attending readings, 935; periodicals distributed, 13,576; pages books and tracts sold, 36,123; pages books and tracts loaned, 96,652; papers, books and tracts given away, 104,778; amount received on books, tracts and periodicals, $211.44.

The chair appointed the following committees:

On resolutions—O. J. Mason, E. J. VanHorn, Walter Irwin.

On nominations—H. M. Mitchell, M. W. Lewis, J. Fish.

Adjourned till 11 o'clock Tuesday forenoon.

At 2:30 p. m. Elder E. J. Van Horn spoke in the large tent, exhorting his hearers to build on Christ, the only solid foundation, and live Godly lives in this present world.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL WORK.

The second meeting of the thirteenth annual session of the Ohio Sabbath School Association was called at 5 o'clock. The special subject taken up for consideration was the necessary qualifications of the teacher.

A ten minute talk was given by C. H. Kestlake. It was shown that the qualifications of a teacher were as important as that of any officer or person in the school; that he should be a Bible student, be "apt to teach," prayerful, patient, kind, adapt himself to his scholars, show that he has an interest in the scholar's salvation, and, most of all, be thoroughly converted and in sympathy with Heaven himself.

Mrs. E. M. Swift, of Cleveland, read an interesting essay on the subject of "GAINING AND HOLDING THE SCHOLARS ATTENTION."

Following is a copy:

Dr. Vincent says, "There are over 300,000 teachers in our land, four times as many lawyers, four times as many ministers." The world is full of teachers of all kinds. But of all teachers, he who teaches God's word and the plan of salvation has the most responsible task. Everyone will admit that not all teaching is what it ought to be. A common mistake of the S. S. teacher is in supposing that hearing a recitation is teaching. Recitation may, it is true, have an important part in the process of teaching. The memorizing and reciting of the words of the lesson is in itself no more the securing of ideas than is the buying of a book the securing of knowledge. Intelligent, purposeful teaching includes the idea of two persons, both of them active. Nor is it enough that there be two persons active, but both must be on the same lesson. This may be gained by hearing a recitation, and commenting upon it; but that is not necessarily teaching. The scholar in such a case may be just exercising his memory, reciting what he has memorized really, without understanding a single word of it. He learns nothing, he is taught nothing. He is not caused to know a single fact or truth by his teacher's simply hearing him recite. The teacher must endeavor to cause the pupil to learn particular facts or truth. Until the two are at this common work, the teaching has not begun. Unless the learner has learned, the teacher has not taught. If a Bible lesson is worth teaching, it ought to be taught, and there is no such thing by a teacher unless there is, at the same time, learning by the learner. The question that we should ask ourselves at the close of the Sabbath school hour is not, Was I present with my class? Did I state and illustrate plainly the important truths which my class should know? Were they apparently attentive? but, Did I cause my scholars to know anything about the lesson of the hour? Until this can be answered in the affirmation, the teacher cannot say he has taught the lesson. Teachers should know their scholars, not merely by sight or by name, but by becoming acquainted with their capacities, attainments and requirments. They should love them, and should show their love by becoming personally acquainted with them, sympathizing with them, and thus gain their affections. They should pray with them and for them. Nothing is gained unless the teacher can gain the attention of his scholars, and everything should be done to secure this. Attention is defined as an "energetic application of the mind to any object, with a view to perceive and understand." It is something more than merely being silent. Silence is sometimes the result of listlessness. It is more than merely hearing. One may hear the clatter of the wagon in which he rides or the whistle of the locomotive as it rushes by and yet give no attention to either. Attention implies application of the mind. The lack of this is more common in Sabbath schools than is commonly supposed. Prof. Hart, superintendent of Sunday schools, gives a striking illustration as follows: "In my own Sabbath school I had neglected one morning to bring with me the teachers' class books. I said, 'Your class books unfortunately have been left behind this morning. They have been sent for, however, and will soon be here. As soon as they come I will bring them around to the several classes.' In about a minute a girl came up to my desk and said, 'Sir, teacher says will you please send her class book? It was not brought around as usual this morning before school opened.' Here was a class of ten girls, averaging twelve years of age, and not one of them or the teacher had understood the notice which I thought had been made plain."

There may be some things which may be dispensed with in a class, but attention is not one of them. But how this may be gained is an important question. The chief thing is to create an interest, and that in the direction of the lesson to be taught. Gaining attention, however, may be the work of the moment; holding the attention is a continuous and prolonged exercise, reqniring life, animation and close application on the part of the teacher. Only when the teacher and a scholar work together can successful work be done and good results accomplished.

Here followed a certainly very bright and able paper by Mrs. J. F. Stewart, of Mt Vernon, on "Object Teaching". Its length prevents its publication here.

Mrs. Cora D. Rice, of Toledo, then read an essay on

"PREPARATION OF THE LESSON."

The essay was as follows:

It is said that every road in England leads toward London. In like manner in preparing to teach, care should be taken to have every lesson point to Christ, the great center. Preparation is the key note of success, and lack of preparation will make your labor drudging both to yourself and to your scholars. Richard Baxter said it is "awful to see dead preachers speaking to dead hearers the living truths of the living God," and it seems to me it is just as awful to see dead teachers speaking to dead scholars. And I do feel thankful this afternoon that I am not speaking to such teachers. But dear teachers, if we are successful we must prepare both mind and heart. Preparation has piled the wood and laid the sacrifice; now the "celestial fire" descends. Rev. J. M. Truman speaks wisely when he says, "As to commentaries, do not begin your lesson by consulting one. Do your own thinking thoroughly first. Ask yourself the question, Why did God have that particular portion of the Bible written? What did he wish us to learn from it? If one of my class should never come to Sabbath school again, could he know from this lesson how to be saved?" If the lesson is a dark one, carry it as one writer says, "to the light of a lighter passage." You know the entrance of the word giveth light. If your lesson is on the Prophecies you can make the New Testament, in the fulfillment of the same, furnish you the amplest material. What great possibilities are treasured up in the young people among us it is impossible to estimate, and they are all being moulded more or less by the influence and teaching of their Sabbath school teacher. It would be well to see what "Testamonies for the church" say upon the subject and, dear teachers, if we always try to imitate the Great Pattern it will teach us to be very careful when studying our lesson and selecting our illustrations, to make Jesus the prominent object—the chiefest among ten thousand—the one altogether lovely.

In the evening Elder Miller preached on the harmony and relation between the law and the gospel.

RAILWAY BREVITIES.

Nine billion dollars are invested in the railways of the United States.

The New York Central railroad has twenty-three female station agents.

For two years the southern states have led the world in railroad construction.

Mr. Collis P. Huntington says that millions of dollars are waiting for railroad constructors in Africa.

The Susquehanna division of the Erie boasts of a fireman 18 years old, who is now firing on one of the fastest passenger trains.

Sleeping cars were first adopted by American railroads in 1858. They are now in use upon more than 30,000 miles of American railroads.

In 1873 the railway mileage in Great Britain was 16,082, the working expenditures were £30,752,848. The mileage in all the other countries of Europe was, in 1873, 52,424.

The ordinary English passenger coach is twenty-four feet long and divided into four compartments, each provided with two doors, but having no communication with each other.

One inventor proposes to build a tube large enough to be used as a railroad tunnel through the north channel between Ireland and Scotland, which shall float at a depth of sixty feet.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company has advanced the pay of its trainmen in the passenger service by agreeing to furnish them two new uniforms a year at the expense of the company.

Over a thousand Africans are constantly at work on the Congo railroad. On April 12, 1890, two miles of it had been completed. This portion begins at Natadi, which is at the western end of the road, ninety miles from the sea. The principal difficulties lie in the building of the first ten miles.

Railway cuttings in Scotland and Sweden show successive beds of clay, with strata between them evidently formed by the slow deposit of ages. In some of these land shells and plants are found; in others traces of sea shells; whole forests have been discovered deep buried under peat bogs.

A railroad superintendent who has been twenty-eight years in service, twenty-six of which he claims he was familiar with track work, says that derailment by spreading rails seems to be a favorite with newspapers, but in his experience he never saw but one wreck occasioned by that cause.

The total receipts of the railway mail service for 1889 were $6,026,982.11, and the total expenditures $2,265,579.12 (including $1,032,123.72 expended for free delivery service), giving a net revenue of $3,761,402.99, and exhibiting an increase in the total receipts of the office over the previous year of $396,811.27, nearly 10 per cent.

The railway mileage of the world at the beginning of 1890, according to the best authorities, aggregated a little over 357,000 miles, divided among the continents as follows: Europe, 133,900; America, 190,000; Asia, 17,800; Africa, 5,200, and Australia, 10,500. The United States have about 160,000, or nearly 45 per cent. of the grand total.

GOOD RULES FOR MOTHERS.

Do not feed a baby at any age oftener than twice during the night.

Do not feed a baby under 3 years of age oftener than once in two hours.

Do not feed a baby between 1 and 2 years of age oftener than once in four hours.

Do not feed a baby between 3 and 12 months of age oftener than once in three hours.

Scald and thoroughly cleanse nursing bottles and nipples immediately before and after use.

A baby should be bathed at least twice a day in lukewarm water, for much depends upon cleanliness.

Milk should not be allowed to stand uncovered even for a short time, and it should always be kept in a perfectly clean and cool place.

Give the baby plenty of fresh air in the cool of the morning and evening. During the middle of the day keep it within doors and in a cool room.

When the source of milk supply is at all doubtful never use "milk from one cow." There is less danger in feeding the baby with milk produced from a herd of cows.

A baby should be given water to drink frequently, between feedings. The water, however, must first be boiled for one half hour and then allowed to thoroughly cool.

Vessels for keeping milk should be made of tin, glass or porcelain, and should be thoroughly scalded and scoured with washing soda and a brush immediately before and after use.

Milk intended for feeding babies should be boiled for one half hour immediately after it is received. It should then be placed in a clean and closed vessel, and allowed to thoroughly cool before use.

Without the advice of a physician never give the baby soothing sirups, cordials, spirits, paregoric, etc.; thousands of children perish annually from the use of these medicines. Should a diarrhea present itself, immediately stop the administration of milk in any form, and send for a physician at once.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FACTS ABOUT AMERICAN BANKS.

The banks of New York and Massachusetts were both founded in 1784.

The Bank of the United States was incorporated in 1791, and went into operation in 1794 with a capital of $10,000,000.

The Bank of North America, Philadelphia, was incorporated by congress in 1781; by the state of Pennsylvania in 1782.

The act allowing $54,000,000 additional circulation was passed July 12, 1870. No bank was to exceed in capital $500,000.

A repeal of all limitation on amount of circulation was passed on Jan. 14, 1875, thus making national banking practically free.

The state banks nearly all suspended specie payments in 1837, resuming again the following year, again in 1857, and still again in 1861.

The new United States bank was chartered in 1816 with a capital of $35,000,000. The United States funds were withdrawn from this bank in September, 1833.

An act creating the system of national banks in the United States was passed Feb 25, 1863. No bank should be of less capital than $50,000. In cities of over 10,000 inhabitants no bank should be of less capital than $100,000.

The new United States bank was rechartered by Pennsylvania in 1836, temporarily suspended payment of specie in 1831 and again on Oct. 9, 1837. It resumed in compliance with an act of Pennsylvania's legislature Jan. 15, 1840, and finally suspended Feb. 4, 1840, having sunk its entire capital.

Driven Mad by Solitude.

Tillamook lighthouse, which stands on a lonely rock eighteen miles below the Columbia river on the stormy Oregon coast, was the scene last week of an exciting fight for life between four helpers and the acting keeper, who suddenly became a raving maniac. This lighthouse is notorious for its loneliness, as it covers nearly all the rock, and there is no chance when the sea is rough of reaching shore, and no opportunity at any time to take recreation. In winter the keeper is frequently a close prisoner for weeks, as the waves wash clean over the rock and lighthouse, which is over 100 feet above the sea. Two years ago rocks weighing four tons were cast up by the side of the lighthouse, the glass smashed and the foundations of the house shaken so that it had to be secured by additional iron bolts of large size.

For four years J. Saour, a very methodical German, has been the assistant keeper. Other men changed, being unable to endure the frightful monotony of life on the rocks, but he remained cheerful and contented. Recently, however, he began to indulge in fits of temper, and suddenly one day, with a scream of rage, he came dashing out of the lighthouse brandishing a large carving knife and swearing he would kill one of his helpers. The terrified man shouted for help, and his three companions responded. After a very long and desperate fight Saour was overcome. His hands and feet were bound, and he was locked in a room. Signals were then displayed, and aid was sent by the Manzanita. The maniac was taken to an insane asylum. There was no cause for insanity, except his lonely life.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Vice President Morton's Wigs.

There is a great deal of doubt about a number of things in this world, but it seems to be accepted as a fact in Washington that the vice president has three beautiful and complicated wigs with which he goes forth into the world to deceive mankind. The wigs are a source of profound study and earnest thought on the part of both Mr. Morton and his valet. The first wig is short, the second is of an average length and the third was made with cunning and deceptive ingenuity by a schemer. This last wig gives an absolutely triumphant illustration of hair which has been allowed to grow too long. It is said that the surest way to Mr. Morton's heart is to remind him that his hair needs cutting.

One should always be careful, however, to make this remark when the vice-president is wearing wig No. 3. After several people have told him that his hair needs cutting he alludes to it himself in a careless way, and then makes some mysterious allusion about having the barber in the morning. The following day he appears in wig No. 1, presenting the appearance of a close cropped and thoroughly well groomed statesman. These things are eagerly discussed in Washington, where the affairs of state are of no importance compared to the small talk of the day.—New York World.

For a Picnic.

The season for picnics makes us glad to know of any little delicacies which will travel well, so I hope the following will be of use: Ingredients required are one pound of cold chicken, one slice of ham and a little gelatine. Boil the chicken bones in a quart of water for five hours, add the ham, and boil till the liquor is reduced to half a pint. Let it get cold, and if the paste be not sufficiently thick add gelatine and boil again. Spread on bread that has been buttered very slightly, then add slices of chicken seasoned with salt and pepper, and put another slice of bread on top.

Lobster mold is an excellent dish. Chop up one good sized lobster, and season with mace, salt and pepper. Rub two ounces of butter into one ounce of bread crumbs, beat up three eggs, pound all the ingredients well together and boil in a buttered mold for an hour. Before being packed it should be stood upon some ice, so that it is thoroughly cold.—Julian Ralph in Chatter.

Georgia's Bible.

The old Bible, which so long has been an object familiar to visitors to the executive department, has been shipped to Savannah. It came to Atlanta from Milledgeville just after the war, with other plunder belonging to the state. Governor Gordon and all his predecessors who have assumed office during the time of the younger generation sealed the official oaths with lips laid reverently upon its cover. On the back was the name "Mathus." Not long ago Mr. T. N. Theus wrote to the executive department claiming the old book as his mother's Bible. A sister, he said, in whose possession it was, refugeed to Milledgeville just before the close of the war. She was forced to leave there hurriedly on account of Sherman's arrival, and forgot to take the book away with her. Exactly how it found its way to the state house is not known.—Macon Telegraph.

Autograph fans, a revival of an old fashion, are made this season of ivory paper, an excellent imitation of real ivory, and on each stick the name or sentiment and names of favorite beaux or friends can be inscribed with indelible ink. If you number an artist or a musician among your favorites a sketch or a bar of music and the autograph can perhaps be etched upon two or more of the sticks, along with the name of the etcher.

An admirable provision has been made by the magistracy of Berlin, which will tend in more ways than one to the improvement of pupils in the public schools. A botanical school garden has been instituted for the regular supply of plants to the schools of the place, and for enabling teachers to make observations on the spot with their pupils.

A couple from Pocahontas, W. Va., who went to Cumberland, Md., to be married, were delayed thirty-six hours in having the ceremony performed because the groom was not old enough by that number of hours to get a license.

Forced Upon Him.

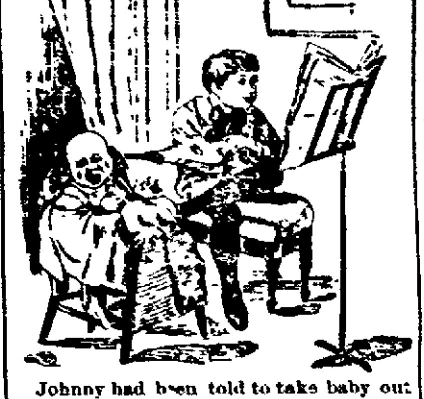
The poor man was inconsolable for the loss of his wife.

"I will do it now," he cried in a tone of anguish that melted his hearers' hearts, "I must do it!"

They tried to dissuade him from all thoughts of self destruction, but their efforts seemed in vain.

"No, no!" he cried. "'Twas she alone that kept me from it. I cannot avoid it since she is gone. I'll have to go to work at last myself!"—Philadelphia Times.

Uniting Business with Pleasure.



Johnny had been told to take baby out for an airing while mamma went out for a call; but Johnny, being in the middle of an exciting chapter in The Boys' Own, devised an airing scheme of his own.—Harper's Bazar.

A Victim of Woman's Acumen.

D. Seiver—Confound it! my watch ran down at 3:30 this afternoon. I must have forgotten to wind it as I usually do just before retiring.

Mrs. D. Seiver—How long does it run, dearest?

D. Seiver—Exactly thirty-six hours.

Mrs. D. Seiver (triumphantly)—Look here, Seiver, you told me night before last that it was just 10 o'clock when you retired. Can you explain that, sir?—Jewelers' Circular.

Boy—I know it, sir. I came of a very old family, and my ancestors can't stand the excitement of two leagues. They're dyin' off fast.—New York Herald.

Willie's Fish.

"Y-a-s," said Willie Wishington, who had evidently been thinking again. "I wealize that a fellow who cawn't wely on himself ought to take the wohd of some smahter man than he is."

"Why don't you, then?"

"Well, don't you see, it takes so much bwains to find out who the smaht fellahs weally abe."—Washington Post.

They Can.

"It is wonderful," said Yappington, "to consider the manner in which paper has grown into general use; paper car wheels, paper barrels—why people can make anything with paper nowadays."

"Yes," was the reply, "give them paper and a pen and ink and they can build monuments with paper."—Washington Post.

That Made a Difference.

Miss De Simper—I want to buy a diamond necklace.

Jeweler—Something worth about $1,500?

Miss De Simper—O my! I am an actress and want something positively stunning.

Jeweler—I see. Here is one with fifteen four carat stones. I can sell you that for $13.—Jewelers' Weekly.

'Twouldn't Do to Have the Screw Tight.

"Isn't there a screw loose somewhere about this ship?" asked an inquisitive passenger, who was very nervous.

"Yes," responded the captain slowly; "yes, there is; the ship wouldn't go, don't you know, if the screw wasn't loose."—Washington Star.

Rather Ambiguous.

"I see by your sign that you are a dispensing druggist."

"Yes, sir."

"What do you dispense with?"

"With accuracy, sir."

"I was afraid you did."—New York Sun.

A Successful Creditor.

"I really think I owe myself a good dinner," remarked one department clerk to another.

"You have the most comprehensive style of getting in debt that I ever witnessed," was the rejoinder.—Washington Post.

The Servant Girl Question in the Country.

Gordon—Do you always lift your hat to your cook when you leave the house?

Tredegar—Not always; but, my dear fellow, just consider that that one has consented to stay with us for three whole days.—Puck.

To Be Avoided.

"Over 95 degs. in the shade!" exclaimed Mrs. Tocker, as they were talking about the weather. "My goodness! I should think people would keep out of the shade."—Washington Post.

Something Else Required.

McChinn (having borrowed $10)—Oh, thank you! Words cannot repay you for this favor.

De Tinn (dryly)—No; I don't think they can!—Puck.

Underhanded Work.

"And you allowed your girl's father to kick you?"

"I did. But how can a fellow help what's done behind his back?"—Philadelphia Press.

Of Course.

She (at the baseball ground)—Why does that fielder out there keep his mouth open all the while?

He—To catch flies.—Munsey's Weekly.

The Usual Thing.

Bunker—I never wear the same pair of trousers for two days without change.

Hill—Neither do I. I always take mine off at night.—New York Sun.

In Pattiois.

"Mme Patti, will you kindly tell me the French for 'farewell?'"

"Certainly, sir. With me it is 'au revoir.'"—New York World.

A Horrible Thought.

He—I have about made up my mind to enter the army.

She—But suppose there should be a war!—New York Sun.

A Bloody Fight.

Betsy Munson, the well-known half-witted woman who lives on Ballentine avenue, appeared before Mayor Dudley today with a complaint against a colored woman named Cloud. Betsy's face was a spectacle of distress, streaming with blood, while her usually unkempt hair was still more entangled than is its wont. The difficulty which placed her in this predicament arose over a small Cloud that had been hovering in the vicinity of the Munson domicile, when the owner, who has a natural inclination to swipe the children who dare venture near her dominion, attempted to thrash the little one. This brought the mother to the scene, and a genuine battle ensued. Betsy was clawed about the head and face unmercifully, until the blood poured from the hand-marks of her antagonist. It was in this condition that she visited the mayor's court, wishing to impress His Honor with the severity of her chastisement. No arrests have been made, however.

ERASTUS FARNUM.

The Venerable Old Citizen Dies at His Home South of Town.

Erastus Farnum, a veteran citizen of the county, died at his home in Pleasant township, on the Prospect pike, about three miles south of this city, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, in his 91st year. Death was the indirect result of an accident received several weeks ago, in which the old gentleman was struck by a moving wagon. He has been suffering considerable since that time. Previous to this mishap he had been remarkably vigorous for a man of his years, both in mind and body.

Mr. Farnum and his venerable wife, who still survives him and is one year his senior, have had an exceptional career. They have enjoyed 70 years of married life, which has been spent at the old homestead, the scene of the husband's death. Shortly after their marriage, which occurred in their native state of Vermont, they started overland in a wagon for this county, and this not pleasant mode of travel was the manner in which their honeymoon was spent. The crudities of this part of the country at that time can not be conceived, and the hardships that the couple had to undergo were many.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnum were the parents of six children, but two of whom survive. These are Mrs. W. H. Mohr, of this city, and Mrs. McAdams, whose home is at North Lewisburg, O.

The funeral of deceased will be held at his late home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and burial will take place at the Marion cemetery.

GONE TO THE ERIE.

The Chicago and Atlantic Falls into the Hands of the Erie Co.

From the news that passed over the wires it is learned that the Erie company has secured control of the C. and A., having made the purchase at Indianapolis at noon today, for the sum of $5,000,000. Whether there were other bidders in the field or not, no information could be obtained, but it is supposed that there were, from the fact it was understood that the successful company had no disposition to bid over three millions unless forced to do so by competition.

This is not cheery news to Marion people, who have been hoping that the Erie would be unsuccessful in making the purchase. It is pretty thoroughly believed that the change will effect Marion considerably, and this belief is strong among the local employes and agents of the road, who have formed this idea from conversation with their superiors in office. Plans have been formulated in anticipation of the purchase, and it is said arrangements have have been made whereby a complete transfer of the C. and A. and the operation thereof can be made in a very short time. It is thought here that the entire force in the local yards will be reduced about two-thirds.

By the change the divisions of the Erie will be altered, and the entire road from Chicago to Salamanca will be known as the Chicago division.

A State Secret Revealed.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 12.—What is probably a state secret with the cabinet and diplomatic officials at Washington and one which appears to have been carefully guarded has come to light here. Yesterday letters were received at the postoffice here addressed to "Hon. Redfield Proctor, Secretary of War," and they have been delivered to the leading hotel here, anticipating his arrival. It is thought that the secretary may be coming out in relation to the Behring sea complications, or to examine into the northwest Pacific coast defenses.
